Surplus Iris Safe

Season 1930

As an Iris Lover I am interested in every new introduction that is announced. I purchase and grow all new offerings giving credit of honest intentions and competence of judgment to all introducers until found otherwise.

There has been great and growing interest in Iris for a number of years. The yearly introductions run into the hundreds. Very few, if any, commercial growers try to keep up with this stream and present a complete assortment.

The tendency is to select a number of varieties according to personal judgment, rumor, and report and say nothing about the others. A statement by a prominent authority or publication will cause a stampede on even an ordinary variety.

The result is a vast array of fine Iris equal to the more touted ones that remain unknown until we have a veritable storehouse of treasures unknown.

Your attention is especially directed to the many novelties included in these groups comprising the latest introductions of Cayeux and Williamson, the new Goos and Koeneman and Vilmoriu varieties. You may get acquainted with these new creations at a very moderate outlay.

This is very likely the last Surplus Sale as I am compelled to materially reduce the quantity of stocks on hand and the wise buyer will not let this opportunity go by unheeded.

The Midsummer Bulletin

The incessant stream of correspondence, order filling, resetting, studying the new arrivals for aquisition, have so far left no time to write.

"Iris As I Bloomed Them

And As I Like Them"

For This Year's Purchases

It will, however, be in your hands by September, making possible Iris gardening in retrospect or should I say in prospect. It will make interesting reading during the months nature halts our active Iris work.

Thank you all for your patronage and encouraging letters.
